

All Arizona Academic Camp Breakdown of Former Arizona High School Basketball Players Recruited to Top Academic Colleges for Lower D1, D2, D3 and NAIA List of Elite Academic Colleges with Limited Athletic Scholarships with Primary Aid from Academic and Need Based Scholarships

National Universities (US News & World Report) National Universities offer a full range of undergraduate majors, master's, and doctoral degrees

Division 1 (Primarily non-athletic scholarship or limited athletic scholarship conference with majority of athletes receiving financial aid from academic and need based aid)

Harvard	Cambridge, MA	Ivy League	Justin Hall (Chaparral), Ryan Little (Gilbert)
Princeton	Princeton, NJ	Ivy League	Edwin Buffmire (Saguaro), Gus Gabel (Chaparral), Michael Strittmatter (Brophy)
Yale	New Haven, CT	Ivy League	John Shumate (Brophy)
Brown	Providence, RI	Ivy League	Marques Coleman (Cactus)
William & Mary	Williamsburg, VA	Colonial	David Schneider (Brophy)

Division 2 (Up to 10 athletic scholarships with significant percentage of team on partial athletic scholarship combined with academic scholarship for financial aid)

U California – San Diego	La Jolla, CA	Calif. Collegiate	Elliott Clark (Gilbert), Nathan Murphy (Mountain View), Jon Ward (Paradise Valley)
--------------------------	--------------	-------------------	--

Division 3 (No athletic scholarships with entire financial aid package based on athletes receiving financial aid from academic and need based aid)

California Inst. of Tech.	Pasadena, CA	SCIAC	Ethan Boroson (Catalina Foothills)
Washington U St. Louis	St. Louis, MO	University	Zach Greenberg, (Desert Mountain). Danny O'Boyle (Saguaro), Ryan Pawling (Chaparral)
Oberlin	Oberlin, OH	North Coast	Andrew Fox (Corona del Sol) and Johnathan Nelson (Saguaro)
Case Western Reserve	Cleveland, OH	University	Kyle Peterson (Fountain Hills)

Liberal Arts Colleges (US News & World Report) Liberal arts colleges emphasize undergraduate education and award at least half of their degrees in the liberal arts fields of study

Division 1 (Primarily non-athletic scholarship or limited athletic scholarship conference with majority of athletes receiving financial aid from academic and need based aid)

Army	West Point, NY	Patriot League	Andrew Pawling (Chaparral)
Colgate	Hamilton, NY	Patriot League	Alex English (Paradise Valley), Jon Simon (Sunnyslope), Daniel Waddy (Salpointe)
Navy	Annapolis, MD	Patriot League	Kaleo Kina (Trevor Browne), T.J. Topercer (St. Mary's)

Division 3 (No athletic scholarships with entire financial aid package based on athletes receiving financial aid from academic and need based aid)

Azusa Pacific	Azusa, CA	GSAC	Andy Jones (Marcos)
Claremont McKenna	Claremont, CA	SCIAC	Ben Bergsma (Valley Christian), Craig Borengasser (Corona), Dan Winterbottom (Coronal)
Grinnell	Grinnell, IA	Midwest	Matt Skelly (St. Mary's), Marquez Valdez (Brophy)

Colorado College	Colorado, Springs, CO	S. Collegiate	Nate Brodman (Arcadia), Lance Jacobs (Bradshaw Mountain), Jake Tramutolo (Sunnyslope)
DePauw	Greencastle, IN	S. Collegiate	Erik Hagen (Dobson)
Hobart & William Smith	Geneva, NY	Liberty	Michael Barlow (Seton Catholic)
Lewis & Clark	Portland, OR	Northwest	James Hollins (St. Mary's), Josh Kollasch (Tucson Sabino)
Puget Sound	Tacoma, WA	Northwest	Robert Krauel (North Canyon)
Wheaton College	Chicago, IL	CCIW	Peter (Desert Mountain)
Pomona-Pitzer	Pomona, CA	SCIAC	Jake Klewer (Catalina Foothills)

Notes: There are at least 36 former Arizona high school basketball players who recently have been recruited to the top academic (non or reduced athletic scholarship) universities. These basketball players have achieved varying levels of success on-the-court. The common denominator off-the-court is their academic success. Over 95% of the players will graduate in four years and the vast majority have continued to achieve high GPAs in college